

Study: Most Dream Act-eligible youth hail from Mexico — and a third live in California

Published on Thu, Aug 02, 2012

Ruxandra Guidi of Southern California Public Radio cited the IPC's study, "Who and Where the DREAMers Are," in her article about DREAMers living in California. In the meantime, a new study by the Washington-based Immigration Policy Center finds that there are approximately 1.4 million immigrants in the U.S. who might meet the requirements. More than 400,000 of those — about a third — are based in California.

Published in the Southern California Public Radio

Source URL:

<http://immigrationpolicy.org/newsroom/clip/study-most-dream-act-eligible-youth-hail-mexico-%E2%80%94-and-third-live-california>