

ERROR! Electronic Employment Verification Systems: What Will Happen When Citizens Have to Ask the Government For Permission to Work?

Mandatory electronic employment verification systems would require all American workers, foreign- and native-born alike, to seek the government's permission to work. This Immigration Fact Check covers what we know about the databases and what we can expect if these bills are passed, including information on database error rates, the impact on the SSA, and employers' misuse of the program.

Published On: Wed, Apr 02, 2008 | Download File [1]

Source URL:

http://immigrationpolicy.org/just-facts/error-electronic-employment-verification-systems-what-will-happen-when-citizens-have-to-ask-

Links:

[1] <http://immigrationpolicy.org/sites/default/files/docs/EEVsbythenumbers04-08.pdf>