About the American Immigration Council

Standing Up for Our Future

The American Immigration Council was established in 1987. Our mission is to strengthen America by honoring our immigrant history and shaping how America thinks and acts toward immigration now and in the future.

Through our Legal Action Center, International Exchange Center, Community Education Center and Immigration Policy Center, we work to further our mission and promote fairness in immigration.

Shaping Immigration Policy in the U.S.

About the Immigration Policy Center

The Immigration Policy Center (IPC) is the research and policy arm of the American Immigration Council. Our mission is to shape a well-informed, responsible conversation on immigration policy in America. Through our work, IPC provides policy makers, the media and the general public with information about the role of immigrants and immigration policy in the U.S.

What We Do

Contributing Research

The Immigration Policy Center researches important issues related to immigration (such as the impact of immigration on the economy, jobs and crime). Our work is geared toward providing a solid, fact-based foundation for the immigration debate.

Bridging the Gap

IPC's work helps to bridge the gap between advocates and academics, policy experts and politicians. Through forums, briefings and special publications, we bring diverse groups together to help shape the debate.

Getting the Facts

All too often, the debate about immigration is dominated by fear and misinformation. IPC works to make sure that fact is separated from fiction. To do this, we monitor and rapidly respond to statements made by anti-immigration groups, providing lawmakers, the media and the general public with accurate, up-to-date information.
