The email thread below shows how the OneAmerica report came to CRCL's attention.

(b) (6) – yesterday (b) (6) said that he would like you to present the potential complaints at tomorrow's 10:30 a.m. case opening meeting.

(b) (6) – when logging in this matter in Entellitrak, let's state that on April 18, 2012, the CRCL Community Engagement Team obtained the publicly released One America report based on informal communication with NGOs. The email thread below should be saved in the file.

Thanks,

FYI, there are a lot of individual stories in the report that we might want to open as complaints.

Anna,

The report can be found here:
<http://weareoneamerica.org/northern-border>

Pramila; the head of the organization, told me that they and their northern border coalition partners would really like a meeting with the Secretary to discuss the report and their findings. They apparently researched it for over a year.

Best,
Kareem.

Since you know them a little bit better, can you try and get a copy of it tonight? Thanks. It just helps me get a ahead of it all for tomorrow.

Thanks again.

I was aware that they were working on it and they told us as they were researching it over the past year but I have not seen it yet.

Have you read this report?

REPORT ON NORTHERN BORDER RACIAL PROFILING

The Huffington Post, the Seattle Times, and several other pacific northwest news outlets will cover a report released today by immigrant advocacy organization "One America" and the University of Washington Center for Human Rights presenting evidence of 135 stories collected during the course of a year of racial profiling and other abuses along the northern border by Border Patrol agents. A statement was provided. Negative tone expected.

Statement

"CBP strictly prohibits profiling on the basis of race or religion. In determining whether individuals are admissible into the United States, CBP utilizes specific facts and follows the Department of Justice's 'Guidance Regarding the Use of Race by Federal Law Enforcement Agencies.'"

Anna,

I believe we are aware of the South Korean case which, if I am not mistaken, may have involved LEP issues. I'm looping in Jeff who heads our Compliance Branch and (b) (6) who leads our LEP effort for possible input.

Thanks,

Kareem.

Thanks Kareem. I just checked my email to include my spam folder and I did not receive the email.

Also, when I was on the phone with Chief Bates last night he mentioned that he had received questions on a South Korean case from CRCL and was asking me about. Do you have background on it? Mostly it was asking for advice on tone, etc.

Much appreciated.

Subject: Invitation: DHS Office for Civil Rights and Civil Liberties Seattle Roundtable Meeting

Dear Seattle Colleagues,

This is a "Save the Date" reminder and RSVP request for our upcoming Quarterly Seattle Community Engagement Roundtable being hosted by Washington New Sanctuary Movement. The event will be held on Wednesday, April 25, 2012 from 2:00 pm to 5:00 pm at Auburn City Hall Council Chambers, located at 25 W. Main, Auburn, WA 98001.

We will be joined by Deborah Fleischaker, a Policy Analyst with the DHS CRCL Compliance Branch. The CRCL Compliance Branch investigates and resolves complaints from the public alleging violations of civil rights or civil liberties; racial, ethnic, or religious profiling, and disability discrimination prohibited by Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act. Ms. Fleischaker's presentation will focus on an overview of the CRCL complaints process, including the investigative process and the types of complaints that are investigated.

I will also be addressing the following topics which were of interest during our previous meeting in January:

- 1) An update of the steps DHS and ICE have taken recently in determining the effectiveness of prosecutorial discretion standards announced this past summer; including the pilot review recently completed in Denver and Baltimore as well as the ongoing review being conducted nationally of detained and non-detained cases of immigration removal. ICE HQ has provided specific talking points with some preliminary results which we can share on this topic.
- 2) An update of the steps DHS and other agencies have taken to help address the previously expressed concerns about some law enforcement training programs. I will be giving this update on behalf of DHS.

We request that you please RSVP by sending an email to <CommunityEngagement@dhs.gov> by Thursday April 5th so that we may give our hosts sufficient time for an accurate count of the number of attendees during this special event.

Further, please contact me directly with your suggestions for questions and issues to be discussed. I am available to collect any issues you wish to discuss or business you would like to submit for the agenda. Please submit those issues to me (b) (6) by Thursday April 5th to allow time for the agencies to send the appropriate person to the meeting. Otherwise, agencies may not be prepared to discuss issues or topics not submitted by April 5th.

Special thanks to Washington New Sanctuary Movement for hosting this meeting. Thank you for your support and partnership with this important community engagement effort and I look forward to seeing many of you on April 25th.

Sincerely,
Kareem.
